

Nov. 15, 2011

Hello Members!

Below is a summary of the Nov. 15, 2011 Mornings with Joe session. Where appropriate, replies have been researched, clarified and/or expanded upon. These sessions are part of the Kiawah Island Community Association's (KICA) continuing efforts to enhance communications to and from members.

General Announcements

Chief Operating Officer Joe Bunting announced that KICA is a sponsor in the humanitarian efforts of Convoy of Hope at its Johns Island location, held Saturday, Dec. 10 at Haut Gap Advanced Studies Magnet School. Many volunteers are needed for four-hour or eight-hour shifts, and may contact volunteer@kica.us or visit www.kica.us/events/convoy_of_hope for details.

Joe also announced that KICA is seeking to fill two director positions on the board and encouraged members interested to apply by the Dec. 12 deadline. For details please contact Tammy.McAdory@kica.us.

Neighbors Helping Neighbors Program Presented

Joe Bunting presented the Neighbors Helping Neighbors program to members. This program gives assistance to members who are home-bound by aiding them with everyday activities such as grocery shopping, commuting, etc. There are currently 25 volunteers! If you would benefit from occasional assistance or would like to volunteer, please contact Maggie.Hawkins@kica.us (Toll-Free: 1-866-226-1770 or Local: 843-768-9194).

Neighborhood Eyes and Ears Program Presented

KICA Safety and Security Director Joe Croughwell presented the Neighborhood Eyes and Ears Program. Members of this program assist neighbors by being alert to and reporting suspicious activity in their neighborhoods within Kiawah Island. There are 36 zones on the island with 44 assigned neighborhood leaders. Members may also contact security 24/7 at 843-768-5566 to report concerns, including unauthorized persons fishing in lakes.

Roundtable Discussion

As this was the last "Mornings with Joe" meeting, all attendees wished Joe the best of luck in his new endeavors, and mentioned how his expertise and personality have fostered a sense of community and enriched the island.
